About

I'm a passionate software developer, which has over time gained more and more of an interest for both software architecture and security. I'm both curiosity and challenge driven, as well as a honest and calm type of a person.

Having a high motivation and learning capacity, i can easily adapt and overcome adverse situations. Nevertheless, i certainly enjoy working in a healthy and innovative work environment.

My areas of expertise are the following:

- Software Development
- Software Architecture
- Software Security
